When You Need a Patton Pro... Experts Straight From the Source!

Sometimes you need a little help for your event or want a factory trained expert to help with your big pitch. Patton offers a wide range of professionals who are uniquely part of Patton. Whether a sales executive, technical support engineer, or marketing coordinator, a Patton pro gives you a deep and rich knowledge of our people, products, and processes to make you successful.

- ✓ Cost. Patton offers a wide range of personnel to match your requirements and budget.
- ✓ Time. Globally available and internationally savvy, hire for as little or as long as needed.
- ✓ No long-term commitment. Use a Patton pro for your project or on a long-term contract.
- ✓ Less dependence on contractors. Why use independents who may not get the job done? With a Patton pro, you have the power to directly supervise the employee's work with factory accountability.

Technical Trainers

Patton subject matter experts will come to your site and train your people how to select, install, configure, and operate Patton's VoIP, router, and connectivity equipment.

Sales Trainers

Need a presenter to wow the crowd? Patton's product and sales managers can deliver informative and entertaining on-site events ranging from half-day technology seminars for the user community to in-depth sales training for channel partner sales teams.

Technical Support

Need help getting it up and running? Patton technical and customer support people can troubleshoot your system, providing remote and/or onsite fault detection, isolation, and correction services.

Trade Show Support

Need expert knowledge in your booth? From product selection to system design consultation, Patton can provide product manager or executive level people to "talk turkey" with prospects and customers.

Consultative Sales Support

Need help closing that big deal? Patton can provide knowledgeable and experienced people to work arm-in-arm with you in consultative sales meetings.
