Surf the Internet at up to faster than a 56 Kbps modem

SATELLITE ACCESS CARD

SATISFY YOUR NEED FOR SPEED.

You've gotten a taste of what the Internet can offer, and you want to dive in, head first. But you also know you can't really enjoy the Web until you're surfing at serious speeds—and you're pretty sure that a newer, fancier phone modem is not the way to get there. That's where DirecPC comes in. Whether you're online for business or for pleasure, DirecPC's blazing satellite access speed enables you to finally realize the true potential of the Net. By avoiding overcrowded phone networks, you'll download time-critical files and software in no time, watch your favorite Web sites stream to life, and—finally—enjoy live audio, seamless video, and all the rich graphics the Web has to offer.

HOW FAST IS IT?

As always, specific download times can vary. But at up to 400 Kbps, you may never see anything faster. A 2-Mbyte movie clip, for example, normally takes 7 to 10 minutes to download over a standard 28.8-Kbps modem. With DirecPC, the same file can be blasted into your PC in as little as 30 to 40 seconds.*

TURBO WEBCAST™ AND TURBO NEWSCAST™

Sure, your DirecPC hardware gets you the fastest Internet access available nationwide today. But what if you could get the most popular sites on the Web instantly—with no waiting at all? Turbo Webcast does that for you—delivering the hottest Internet content straight into your PC by satellite, without tying up your phone line. It's always up to date, and always there when you need it. Turbo Newscast does the same thing for your favorite Usenet newsgroups—so you'll never be behind on the news that matters to you.

YOU WANT TV WITH THAT?

The card in this box won't receive a TV signal. But if you purchase your DirecPC Satellite Access Card with a DirecDuo antenna, you'll be able to power a Digital Satellite System receiver for your TV as well as your DirecPC card—from the same
